

DEMOCRATS BURIED UNDER AVALANCHE OF VOTES

HUGE MAJORITIES ARE PILED BY CANDIDATES FOR COUNTY OFFICES

Every Republican County Candidate Is Successful in Tuesday Election.

RECORD VOTE IS POLLED

Mark Catlin Is Elected to State Assembly Over Farmer-Labor Candidate.

Every republican candidate for county office was swept into the courthouse yesterday on the crest of the greatest republican landslide in the history of Outagamie county. Never before within the memory of the oldest voter has there been such an avalanche of republican votes. The victory was especially noteworthy because of the strenuous fight put up by the democratic candidates.

All the courthouse candidates but one were carried into office by majorities of more than two to one. Some of the majorities were approximately 10 to 1. The only exception was in the case of Herman J. Kamp, republican candidate for county clerk who faced a desperate fight because of the campaign started by women voters. They booted Hantschel because of the fact that he is a wounded veteran of the great war. Their work reduced the vote for Kamp but he still won with a majority of more than 1,800.

Harry Shannon, republican candidate for county clerk polled the largest vote of any candidate with opposition. He was given 2,245 votes of which 1,874 were cast in Appleton. Peter Schwartz, victorious candidate for sheriff, ran a close second, polling 2,132 votes and leading his ticket in Appleton where he was given 1,014 votes.

Hantschel ran far ahead of his ticket, polling 5,295 votes as compared with 3,595 for Seifert who finished second best. Keller was only a few hundred votes behind Seifert. McCadden, candidate for sheriff, finished close behind McCadden.

Hantschel was the only democratic candidate to carry the city of Appleton, polling 3,052 votes to 2,368 for Kamp, but the latter's lead in the country districts was so large that Hantschel could not catch up. Hantschel carried five of the six wards. Each of the other candidates, however, managed to take one ward or else finished close to the top.

Mark Catlin, republican candidate for assemblyman for the first district on the republican ticket overwhelmingly defeated George Schneider, independent, who entered the race with the endorsement of the Farmer-Labor League. Schneider led Catlin by more than 300 votes outside of the city, but Appleton changed the standing and gave the lawyer a lead of 400 over the labor representative. Appleton's vote was 2,089 for Catlin and 1,824 for Schneider. The First ward gave Catlin 959 and Schneider 308.

Non-Partisan League candidates, Blaine for governor and Thompson for United States senator, captured the county, despite defeats in the city of Appleton. McCoy lost to Blaine, 5,911 to 7,090, with the South Kaukauna precinct missing but he ran ahead of Blaine in Appleton 3,214 to 2,435. Blaine piled up a lead of 2,000 votes outside of the city.

Thompson had a lead of only 400 votes over Lenroot in the entire county but finished 600 votes behind him in the city. Thompson had a lead of nearly 1,000 in the county outside of the city.

Lenroot and McCoy, running on different tickets, captured the same three wards in Appleton—the First, Second and Third—while Blaine and Thompson took the other three. Majorities in the McCoy and Lenroot wards were so large that they overshadowed the small gains made by the "new" in the other three precincts.

Dr. Paul E. Reinsch, democratic candidate for U. S. Senator was snowed under in the fight between Lenroot and Thompson, receiving only 2,205 votes, of which 831 were cast in Appleton. He did not carry a single ward in the city.

Larson, democratic candidate for attorney general, endorsed by the Non-Partisan League, ran far ahead of every other democrat except McCoy, polling 4,860 as compared with 3,833 for Morgan, the republican candidate. Appleton swelled the Morgan victory by giving the republican 3,322 votes while Larson received 1,743. Morgan had a lead of only 400 in the county outside of Appleton.

As was expected, Outagamie county piled up a tremendous majority for Warren G. Harding, republican presidential elect. The Marion man received 3,452 votes while Cox was given only 2,610. Appleton gave Harding 4,316 and Cox 1,155. Only 323 socialist votes were cast in the county and of these

KUCKUK AND CLASSON ARE SURE WINNERS

Shawano County Man Has 1,300 Lead in County Over C. B. Ballard.

CLASSON CLAIMS ELECTION

MacDonald, and Oconto Man Get About Even Break in County.

Latest reports from Shawano county said that 19 out of 37 precincts gave Kuckuk 1,489; Ballard 1,917. Ballard gained 100 votes in ten precincts. It was said that Ballard cannot maintain this lead and that Kuckuk's election is practically certain.

Defeat of C. B. Ballard, independent candidate for state senator, is preceded by the immense majority piled up in Outagamie county by his opponent Antoni Kuckuk of Shawano. With the South Kaukauna precinct missing, which is almost certain to go for Kuckuk, the Shawano man is leading the Grand Chute storm center by nearly 1,300 votes. The total for 38 out of the 39 precincts in the county is Kuckuk, 6,258; Ballard, 4,921.

Returns from Shawano county which is also in this district, are not so encouraging. Returns from nine of the 37 precincts in the county show Ballard leading by about 400 votes but it is said these nine precincts are Ballard strongholds and that none of the Kuckuk districts have reported. It is probable that the Outagamie county man will carry Shawano by a small margin but not sufficient to overcome the lead established in this county.

Kuckuk entered the Appleton election with a lead of only 130 over Ballard but the city added nearly 1,200 to his column. The Appleton vote was Kuckuk, 3,140; Ballard, 1,905. The vote outside of the city was Kuckuk, 2,146; Ballard, 3,076. Kuckuk carried the First, Second and Third wards and Ballard took the other three, but by small majorities.

Although Andrew MacDonald will probably run ahead of David G. Classon in Outagamie county in the race for election to Congress, Classon probably will be elected. With South Kaukauna missing—MacDonald's home precinct—Classon is leading in the county, 6,088 to 5,706. The South Kaukauna vote is expected to destroy this lead and the men will probably finish about even. It is believed that if MacDonald cannot carry his home county by a substantial majority his chances for election are mighty slim.

Reports from Classon's headquarters indicated that the Oconto man will be elected by from 2,500 to 3,000 majority. Scattered returns indicate that Brown county will give Classon about 1,000 majority and that Oconto and Marinette counties will pile up big leads. Forest and Florence counties are also said to be returning majorities for Classon while Door, Kewaunee and Langlade counties, on the face of very meagre returns, are going for MacDonald but by small margins.

No information could be received from the MacDonald headquarters regarding the race. The candidate is in Madison and his representatives there had received but very few reports. There was little optimism about the headquarters, indicating that the prospects were far from encouraging. MacDonald had the endorsement of the Farmer-Labor League of several counties.

The Kaukauna man piled up a lead of about 550 votes outside of Appleton, with South Kaukauna missing, but this lead was wiped out and Classon was pushed ahead by the Appleton vote. The final total for all reported precincts was Classon, 6,086; MacDonald, 5,706. Appleton gave Classon, 2,574; MacDonald, 2,040.

Hanrahan, democratic candidate for congress received only 429 votes in the county, of which 138 were cast in Appleton.

Miller, republican, defeated Crowe, democrat, for election to state assembly from the second district of Outagamie county by 1,760 votes.

ENGLAND HAPPY
OVER COX DEFEAT

British Press Declares Cox Election Might Have Proved Dangerous.

London—The United States has revolted against super-men in politics, the Evening Standard said today. The Globe called Senator Harding's election a fortunate thing for Anglo-American friendship.

"It is a good thing that Gov. Cox was snowed under," the Globe said. "He had pledged an interference in Irish affairs which England could not and would not have brooked. Fortunately Cox will return to the obscurity whence American politicians of his type rarely emerge."

"Senator Harding does not intend that America shall become involved in the controversies of a powerless league of nations," the Globe said.

The league must be remodeled to permit American membership if it hopes ever to acquire power, this newspaper said.

The Evening Standard said the voters realized Harding opposed the league of nations but favored an association.

"Names and forms are unimportant," the Standard added, "but a co-operative spirit is essential. We hope and believe that spirit will not be lacking."

PREUS INCREASES LEAD
OVER SHIPSTEAD TODAY

St. Paul—Jacob A. O. Preus increased his lead on Henrik Shipstead in the race for governor as additional precincts were reported today. The vote in 157 scattered precincts gave Preus 13,636; Shipstead 76,277. Hodgson 20,505.

Senator Harding continued to pile up a plurality that if continued will put Minnesota in the ranks of the states that broke records to elect him. The vote in 493 precincts was Harding, 110,418; Cox, 41,473.

ing for MacDonald but by small margins.

No information could be received from the MacDonald headquarters regarding the race. The candidate is in Madison and his representatives there had received but very few reports. There was little optimism about the headquarters, indicating that the prospects were far from encouraging. MacDonald had the endorsement of the Farmer-Labor League of several counties.

J. J. BLAINE
AND LENROOT
WIN IN STATE

Both Candidates Have Big Lead Over Opponents in Scattering Reports.

VICTOR BERGER DEFEATED

Reports Show That Nearly All Republican Candidates Were Elected.

By United Press Leased Wire
Milwaukee—With almost half of the precincts in the state reported for president, governor and United States senator, few reports were received here today concerning other state and congressional offices. Indications were that clerks and judges tired of checking and counting the marked ballots and after reporting on the three most important contests "closed shop."

With reports showing Harding carried the state, the reelection of U. S. Senator Lenroot and placing of John J. Blaine in the governor's chair, interest centered in the other contests. Early meager scattered returns indicated Morgan had a lead over Larson for attorney general. No reports could be made on other state offices.

Of congressional fights, Congressman Nelson in the eleventh and Congressman Lambert in the sixth, were returned to the house.

Returns from 1,086 precincts in every county with the exception of Jackson, Crawford and Florence, gave for president—Harding 239,152; Cox 94,571 and Debs 11,693.

Scattered returns from 929 precincts from every county except Barron, Culmet, Crawford, Florence, Jackson and Kewaunee counties, gave Lenroot 56,559; Thompson 66,847; Bensch 19,771.

Victor L. Berger, veteran socialist leader, was defeated for election as congressman from the fifth Wisconsin district, according to unofficial, incomplete returns published by three Milwaukee newspapers this afternoon.

These reports showed former Congressman W. H. Stafford, Milwaukee, republican, leading Berger by a few thousand votes. The office is now vacant, due to unseating of Berger.

Indications here this afternoon pointed to the following congressional delegations from Wisconsin:

First district—Henry Allen Cooper, republican.
Second district—Edward Voigt, Sheboygan, republican incumbent.
Third district—J. M. Nelson, Madison, republican.
Fourth district—J. C. Kleczka, Milwaukee, republican, incumbent.
Fifth district—W. H. Stafford, republican.
Sixth district—Florian Lambert, Oshkosh, republican, incumbent.
Seventh district—J. D. Beck, Viroqua, republican.

HARDING LANDSLIDE
BREAKS ALL RECORDS
AS MAJORITY SWELLS

G. O. P. WILL HAVE
SENATE MAJORITY

Returns Show Addition Of 20 to Republican Ranks—Total 54

By United Press Leased Wire
New York—The republicans will have an easy working majority in the next senate, practically complete returns from yesterday's election assured today.

With senatorial races in states—Nevada and Arizona—still in doubt, republican successes in 20 contests yesterday increased their seats to 54 while 10 democratic victories gave them a total of 40 seats with two remaining in doubt.

The following were elected to the senate:

Alabama—Oscar W. Underwood (long term) democrat; Thomas J. Heflin (short term) democrat; Arizona—In doubt; Arkansas—T. H. Cavanaugh democrat; California—Samuel H. Hiram, republican; Colorado—S. D. Nicholson, republican; Florida—D. C. Fletcher, democrat; Georgia—Tom Watson, democrat; Idaho—L. R. Gooding, republican; Illinois—William B. McKinley, republican; Indiana—James E. Watson, republican; Iowa—A. B. Cummins, republican; Kansas—Charles Curtis, republican; Kentucky—J. C. W. Beckham, New Hampshire—George Moses, republican; Connecticut—Frank Brandegee, republican; Pennsylvania—Boies Penrose, republican; Louisiana—Edward Broussard, democrat; Maryland—O. E. Weller, republican; Missouri—Selden P. Spencer, republican; Nevada—Doubtful. New York—James W. Wadsworth, republican; North Carolina—Lee S. Overman, democrat; North Dakota—E. P. Ladd, republican-non partisan league; Ohio—Frank B. Willis, republican; Oklahoma—Scott Ferris, democrat; Oregon—George E. Chamberlain, democrat; South Carolina—Benson Smith, democrat; South Dakota—Pelzer Nebeck, republican; Utah—Reed Dillingham, republican; Virginia—Carter Glass, democrat; Washington—Wesley L. Jones, republican; Wisconsin—Irvine L. Lenroot, republican.

These returns threw 19 additional electoral votes to Harding who apparently will have at least 391 votes in the electoral college.

In addition, late returns from Oklahoma indicated that the result is still in doubt there though Cox was holding a slight lead. In capturing Tennessee, the president-elect succeeded in breaking the democratic front there for the first time since 1865.

Democratic headquarters did not concede Tennessee to the republicans but latest figures indicated a 15,000 plurality there for Harding.

The outcome of the senatorial race in three states remained in doubt. These were Oregon, Arizona and Nevada.

(By Ed L. Keen)
New York—With definite returns lacking from only a few states, Senator Warren G. Harding today had been swept into the presidency by the greatest majority in the history of American politics.

Incomplete returns early today gave Harding 351 electoral votes, Cox 149 with 21 doubtful.

As tabulation of returns was completed today, the Harding landslide was seen to be greater than it had appeared even last night when the great republican sweep from coast to coast became manifest.

The most optimistic predictions of republican National Chairman

COX CONGRATULATES
SUCCESSFUL RIVAL

Dayton, Ohio—Governor Cox today sent his congratulations to Senator Warren G. Harding, thus formally conceding his defeat.

His message follows:

"In the spirit of America, I accept the decision of the majority tendered as the defeated candidate my congratulations and pledge as a citizen my support to the executive authority in what emergency might arise."

(Signed) "James M. Cox"

Will Hays were exceeded in practically every instance. The women vote swelled the total to unprecedented proportions and made the democratic defeat appear all the more overwhelming.

It was estimated that the total vote cast was more than 20,000,000 and that Harding polled nearly 6,000,000 votes more than Cox. This broke all records for political land-slides. The records show that prior to yesterday, no state ever had given a presidential candidate more than a 500,000 plurality. This was surpassed by New York which gave Harding a probable lead of more than one million, by Pennsylvania, where the republican candidate has a margin of more than 700,000 and in Illinois where Harding's estimated plurality is about 800,000. Harding's margin of victory in Ohio was estimated at 100,000.

AUTHORITATIVE

Theatre-Goers of Appleton

THE undersigned respectfully crave your indulgence for a few minutes to call special attention to the following facts:

On Wednesday, Nov. 10th we are bringing to the Appleton theater "America's Gayest Musical Show" — "TAKE IT FROM ME," written by Will B. Johnston and Will R. Anderson.

In bringing this brilliant musical success here we are not making any experiment, for it comes with a record of five months in New York, six months in Chicago, four months in Philadelphia and four months in Boston.

This is the original company and production that made theatrical history at the Studebaker Theatre, Chicago. There is no other company.

The scenic production of "TAKE IT FROM ME" is especially gorgeous and all the gowns are the very latest models, setting a new standard for smart and up-to-date Fifth avenue effects. Every effort has been put forward to make this the finest possible presentation of a musical comedy.

Mail orders are now being received at the Appleton Theatre for this performance of "TAKE IT FROM ME" on Wednesday, Nov. 10th.

Prices will range from $1.00 to $3.00.

Enclose proper remittance, payable to the order of the Appleton Theatre and enclose self-addressed stamped envelope for return of ticket.

USE OF THRIFT IS URGED OF WOMEN

Speaker Before Woman's Club Says It Is Important to the Home.

"Every forward step in conservation is thrift," declared Mrs. Frances Blesch, chairman of the thrift department of the Wisconsin Federation of Women's Clubs, in an address before the home economics department of the Woman's Club at the regular meeting of the department at four o'clock Tuesday afternoon at the club rooms.

"Thrift began when civilization first thought of preparing for tomorrow as well as for today. Private economy is as necessary as economy in business. Housekeeping should be placed upon a business basis. The women's clubs cooperated with the government in its thrift work. In fact they received an invitation from the treasury department to assist in the thrift campaign.

"After the signing of the armistice, it took some time to adjust ourselves to a peace basis. During the war, conservation was a patriotic duty and marked the difference between starvation and life to thousands. It is just as necessary to conserve now, for we must help our government pay the national debt. Labor must be reduced on luxuries and concentrated upon necessities. Americans are too prone to look at results instead of causes," Mrs. Blesch stated.

"There are two vital questions which are facing us today. Shall construction or destruction prevail? The latter points to revolution, while construction would bring about an orderly evolution. We must do our share as individuals and groups of individuals. War has made no change in the laws of truth and justice. If club women will accept the opportunities, they will help in the colossal work.

"The General Federation is a great power for accomplishing good. We must understand more clearly the subject of finance. Extravagant waste and decreased production keep prices down. No nation can be more prosperous than its people. Due to the wholesale destruction of war, it is imperative that we buy only necessary things. Spend less than your income."

Mrs. Blesch sighted several instances of extravagant buying and waste on the part of girls and women. She said that one of the large dressmaking establishments has a machine for picking up and cleaning pins, which are dropped by careless persons. The firm estimates that this machine saves annually half of their pin bill which amounts to $1,200. This is a forward step in conservation.

"There are three causes of waste, waste, false value and false price. Many values are fictitious and we must learn to judge.

"Instill into the minds of your children habits of thrift. In the majority of homes, children feel all they have to do when they want something is to ask for it.

"There should be a happy medium between the frugality of the European and the spending American. Thrift does not mean stinginess or miserliness. Thrift is the spending, saving and conserving of time and money to the best advantage.

"To your own marketing. Some foods are high in price and low in nutritive value. Don't charge. This encourages lavish expenditure. A certain per cent of the allowance should be saved regularly. Take as good care of what you buy as the money itself.

"The war is not over until we pay every commitment. Thrift results in the security of the state and the prosperity of the community," concluded Mrs. Blesch.

ASK MANUFACTURERS TO RETURN SURVEY BLANKS

Several manufacturers have failed to return the questionnaires recently sent out by the chamber of commerce in connection with the industrial survey of Appleton. Secretary Corbett desires these to be returned by the end of the week so that his office can start compiling the information. The survey will include facts about the amount and nature of products manufactured in Appleton, the number of employees, the needs of the industries and other valuable facts to be used in publicity literature.

Gets 28 Eggs A Day Now, From 34 Hens

C. C. White, Well-Known Breeder, Tells How. Costs Nothing to Try.

"I gave Don Sung to 34 utility Buff Orpingtons and the egg yield increased from 7 to 28 a day. Don Sung is a wonder and I am now giving it to all my hens regularly."—Chas. C. White, Mrs. Cherry Hill Farm, Ellettsville, Ind.

Mr. White is the well known breeder and exhibitor. He wrote the above letter in December, after his test had shown a gain of 21 eggs a day from 34 hens. We will make you the same offer we made him. Here it is: Give your hens Don Sung and watch results for one month. If you don't find that it pays for itself and pays you a good profit besides, simply tell us and your money will be cheerfully refunded. Don Sung (Chinese for egg-laying) is a scientific tonic and conditioner. It quickly gives the hen the best, improves the hen's health and makes her stronger and more active. It tones up the egg-laying organs, and gets the eggs, no matter how cold or wet the weather. You can obtain Don Sung from your drugstore or poultry remedy dealer, or send $1.04 (includes war tax) for a package by mail. Burrill-Dugger Co., 214 Columbia Bldg., Indianapolis, Ind.

RED CROSS KEEPS UP ITS FINE WORK

Outagamie County Children Can Testify To Organization's Help

"Still the Greatest Mother in the World." Forty little children in Outagamie county, crippled at birth or maimed through accident, stand ready to testify that this famous slogan of the 1920 Red Cross roll call is true. They have had or will have the opportunity to test of the mercy, the human sympathy, the actual efforts that the Outagamie chapter is putting forth to effect their total cure, or help them to a better physical condition.

A careful search of the county by Miss Bertha Schultz, county nurse, Miss Elizabeth Nienhaus, city nurse, and other Red Cross workers has revealed this number of children who are either helpless or handicapped. Sixteen of the cases are already under treatment. Eight children have been given medical or surgical help and are completely cured. They romp around, live and act like other children now.

As high as $1,000 has been spent on a single case to secure the services of the particular specialist who could cure a child. The county chapter furnishes some of these funds, and the junior Red Cross, made up of school children, furnishes the balance. The parents are asked for no money what ever.

Nothing like this merciful service has ever been known before in Outagamie county. Crippled children of poor families have looked forward to the dreary life of an invalid, never dreaming that some agency might come to them with the offer to make them well. These children do not seek the Red Cross. The Red Cross seeks them, makes the examinations and applies treatment only on consent of the parents.

This service to cripples is a direct aid to a movement recently started by the state of Wisconsin. Crippled children are to be sent to a hospital at Madison, where they will submit to treatment to cure their defects. The aim is to prevent them from growing up unable to earn a living and thus becoming public charges. The state has 30 children under its care now. The Outagamie county chapter has applications pending for several children for whom it wishes to secure treatment.

The economic value of such welfare work is instantly recognized by the public. The Red Cross does not stop at the economic phase. It has the happiness and future of the children at heart, and wants to remove a burden from the homes where such children live.

It is only through a liberal response to the annual Red Cross roll call that work of this kind is possible. The county chapter feels no hesitation in asking a larger membership this year than ever before, in view of the peace

WATCHMAN NOW OUT WITH FACTS

Says He Did Not Believe Anything Could Do Him as Much Good As Tanlac Has

"It certainly is wonderful how quickly the right medicine will get a person to feeling right again," said O. C. Bentons, 272 Greenbush St., Milwaukee, Wis.

"When I started on Tanlac my stomach was in such an awful condition that I couldn't eat anything without suffering the worst kind of pains afterwards. These pains were so bad at times that they fairly doubled me up, and gas formed to such an extent that it pressed against my heart until I thought it would stop beating. I got so dizzy at times I had to sit down and rest. I had such pains in the legs that I could hardly get up and down stairs and my arms also ached a great deal. Being on night work, I have to take my rest during the day, but I got so little sleep that I was tired and worn out all the time.

"I never would have believed that a few doses of medicine could make such a change in a man as Tanlac has in me. Within a week I was able to eat anything I wanted without suffering the least bit from bloating or pains in the stomach. The pains in my arms and legs also disappeared. I now sleep like a rock and wake up feeling thoroughly rested. It's no trouble to me now to go up and down the stairs a hundred feet or more two or three times a night, and in fact I'm just feeling as well as I can be."

Tanlac is sold in Appleton by John E. Voigt, F. O. Brown, Shindich, Dr. J. M. Sautter, Bear Creek, H. E. Abund, Dale, R. E. Lowell, Little, Chute.

THE ELECTION

Warren G. Harding is to be the next president of the United States. He has been elected by a heavy majority, apparently approximating the "land-slide" claimed for him all along by the Republican national committee. The result is what the public expected.

Mr. Harding's election is not a personal triumph, for the selection of a candidate was a perfunctory incident. In himself he contributed no strength to the ticket, rather he was a source of weakness. So far as insuring election of a Republican candidate was concerned one name at the head of the ticket was as good as another. To hundreds of thousands of Republicans who measured the nominee on his merits, Senator Harding was a hard pill to swallow. Seldom has a man been named for the presidency who aroused less enthusiasm among the people, or whose campaign utterances more strikingly challenged his qualifications for that high office.

Nor is Mr. Harding's election to be regarded as a triumph of principle. On the contrary, there was an utter lack of principle touching the paramount issues. If any person is of a contrary opinion it would be incumbent upon him to point out what that principle consisted of on the league of nations. No person's word could be accepted, for one is as good as another and agreement is impossible. Messrs. Johnson and Borah and the Hearst press are of one opinion. Taft and Wickersham of another. Lodge and Root of another. Penrose and Knox of still another and so on down the line. There was no referendum on the league of nations.

Desire for a change of political administration is the sole explanation of the result, and this desire was based on general dissatisfaction with Democratic politics, weak department executives, excessive southern influence in the federal government, and to some extent on dislike of President Wilson. Few would agree upon the specific causes of complaint, particularly in legislation and governmental policy. Vilification of the president, coupled with contempt for the great position he occupies, has been equaled on but two former occasions in the country's history. It is prophetic of what the future will say of this man and the slander heaped upon him by recalling that his two maligned predecessors, Washington and Lincoln, were charged with precisely the same offenses and delinquencies. The day is not far distant when the nation will hang its head in shame for its treatment of one of its greatest and best, though misunderstood, presidents.

Mr. Harding will enter the White house distinctly on trial. His severest critics assert that he will be nothing but a tool in the hands of the old guard, now so powerfully entrenched in the senate. It will be up to him to make good with the people. This he can best do by promptly establishing the fact that he is to be his own master, that he is qualified to lead the nation and that he really possesses convictions, with courage and independence to carry them out. If he is a bigger man than appearances have indicated, qualities that prove it will not be long in disclosing themselves when he is clothed with power and responsibility. Mr. Harding has an opportunity to make a name for himself but he will never do it by surrendering his prerogatives and his leadership to the firm of Penrose, Lodge, Brandegee & Co. Only by enlightened and progressive handling of the great social, economic and political questions confronting the country can the presidency be filled with distinction at this momentous period—not by reactionary men and measures.

The independent press of the country will be the first to give Mr. Harding its cordial and full support in whatever progressive and constructive policies he sets about to carry out. It wishes him nothing but success and honorable achievement in the high and sacred trust to which he is soon to be elevated.

Governor Cox entered the race with the odds overwhelmingly against him. He did not improve them by his first wasted effort to expose Republicans in the proper use of money. Only during the last three weeks did he succeed in any degree in arresting public attention and that was when he confined himself to the league of nations. From that time on he gained strength, but it was a hopeless fight. It takes a real fighter to make a losing fight, and in that respect Mr. Cox acquitted himself well, for his campaign was conducted with much greater punch than that of his opponent.

THE STATE ELECTION

The indications are that John J. Blaine has been elected governor. The only explanation for this apparent triumph of the Non-Partisan league is that he was swept into office on the Republican tidal wave. Although repudiating the Republican national ticket and the national and state platforms of the party, Blaine's name appeared on the ballot in the Republican column. "Straight" voting carried him through, it seems. If elected Mr. Blaine does not take the governorship as a Republican. He is the leader of the Non-Partisan league, the spokesman of La Follette, who has ditched the Republican party completely.

The heavy vote given the Socialist ticket proper, coupled with the apparent election of Blaine on a Socialist platform, ought to open the eyes of Wisconsin to the real road it is traveling. It is no comfort to find refuge behind the plausible excuse that the governorship has gone to the socialistic forces through usurpation of the Republican label. The Republican party has too long lent its name, and given aid and comfort, to this element. The bogey of "regularity" has been pursued by the politicians to its logical end, all but wrecking the party on the rocks of radicalism.

Wisconsin is now not far from North Dakota government. The Non-Partisan league is fastening its talons upon the state, and unless there is a profound awakening on the part of the people we shall soon find this commonwealth in the power of Townley and his band of socialists.

The first step toward this end is to cleanse the state of factional politics. Blaine's nomination on the Republican ticket, to which he had no moral right or title, was brought about solely by the personal grievances of Governor Philipp, when he injected Dr. Seaman into the race as his personal candidate. He did this for the one purpose of avenging himself upon Senator Wilcox, who otherwise would have been nominated and elected by a large plurality. In that event we would have had an upstanding, militant American, and thoroughgoing Republican, for governor. As it is we have the prospect of Blaine and the Non-Partisan league in a state which gives Harding an overwhelming majority. It is a heavy price to pay for personal, selfish, venomous politics. How long are the people going to continue to uphold these scheming politicians, whose only thought and purpose is to serve their ambitions and punish their enemies? Wisconsin is sick and prostrated from factional politics. Out of the mess radicalism is reaching out its hand for the balance of power. It has run riot in the legislature and now it seems it rakes in the governorship.

There is some comfort in the reelection of Senator Lenroot, but even here there is a painful significance. It is perfectly evident that had the La Follette-Non-Partisan league combination managed to so manipulate the primary campaign as to get Thompson on the Republican ticket, Thompson would be the next United States senator.

MASKED LUNG FEVER

In elderly or feeble subjects, or in subjects of Bright's disease, or in alcoholic habits, pneumonia may develop without the customary preliminary chill, without any noticeable fever, without any particular complaint of pain or distress on the part of the victim, but just an unwonted degree of weakness or prostration. Indeed it is a common terminal condition in various chronic diseases and in advanced age. Pneumonia in a drinker has too often been mistaken for delirium tremens, because the mental wandering or confusion may be the only symptom apparent to the casual observer, or even to the careless doctor summoned by the police. Pneumonia in infants often begins with a convulsion, instead of the mere chill commonly seen in the onset in adults; and when this convulsion is followed after a day or two by stupor or coma (unconsciousness), as is often the case, a diagnosis of meningitis may be suggested at, unless the physician carefully examines the infant's lungs.

Physicians who are perhaps a trifle too enthusiastic about operating, sometimes rush a young patient to the operating room for an appendicitis operation, only to discover at the last moment, or maybe right afterward, that the pain the lower right side was really due to pneumonia in the lower right lobe.

The pain of pneumonia is not the soreness or rawness of the chest, which is commonly felt with various slight acute conditions in which there may be much coughing. One with such soreness will worry about pneumonia only if he takes too seriously the nostrum makers' propaganda and the selling arguments offered by the shrewd corner druggist. There is no more likelihood of pneumonia occurring under such circumstances—unless the condition is deliberately aggravated by ill-advised dosing with narcotic cough medicines—than in one who is perfectly well. The pain of pneumonia is a sharp, stabbing pain, increased by coughing and by each inspiration. In short, a pleurisy pain, for with lung fever (lobar pneumonia) there is invariably involvement of the lung covering (pleura) in the inflammatory process. It is this sharp pain which may be referred to the lower right side of the abdomen, particularly in children and give rise to the suspicion of appendicitis; but examination of the lungs will settle the doubt in every instance.

To this day one sometimes sees people going about with the mouth carefully covered, lest they "take more cold." This is the height of ignorance, credulity and superstition.

The first and best insurance against possible pneumonia, in any acute illness which causes anxiety, is REST IN BED.

The next best preventive is BREATHING COLD FRESH AIR, on sleeping porch, in tent, or in room with windows always open.

Stammering

What is the cause of stammering? Could blood poisoning be the cause of stammering? Is there any cure for stammering? (E. R.)

ANSWER—I do not know what you mean by blood poisoning. Send a stamped addressed envelope for a system of self-treatment for stammering.

Home Made Sulphur Water

Could one make sulphur water at home like that obtained from sulphur springs? (A. S.)

ANSWER—Undoubtedly, yes. But why should one want to make it?

Canned Sandwiches

Is it safe to use raw beef for sandwiches these days, or should the beef be seared a little to destroy any germs that might be in it? (M. W.)

ANSWER—Mere searing does not certainly destroy germs in meat. But it is rather parasites than disease germs which make raw beef inadvisable. Not all the meat that reaches the market is inspected. Tapeworm infection is a possibility which must be considered when you indulge in uncooked beef.

Today's Poem
GENIE AND JAR
You remember the story. A Jar, and within
Was imprisoned a Genie (some called him Djinn)
And a careless Fisherman loosed the stopper,
Not knowing his action was dashed improper,
And the Genie soared out, so huge and high,
He blotted the Fisherman's earth and sky,
And the Fisherman escaped the spirit's wrath
By inducing the Djinn to retrace his path,
Till, when the poor devil had proved he could,
The Fisherman corked him up—for good.

Well, Fate is the Fisher and here we are,
Each of us out of his genie-jar.
And we swirl around in a wondrous rate
And threaten destruction to frightened Fate
By growing forever, and then—and then
We're induced to creep into the jar again,
And the Fisherman stoppers out final breath,
And the jar is a body, whose cork is death.
Who can finish the tale, and resolve the doubt—
Does ever the Genie again get out?

Chemical Aid For Business

By Frederic J. Haskin

Cambridge, Mass.—There is a firm here which believes in chemistry as a power to revolutionize industry just as steamboat or Bell in the telephone. Chemistry is already acknowledged as an important factor in industry, but this firm says that the possibilities of applying science to business have scarcely been tapped. It points out that by the present methods of handling materials recklessly and burning up waste rich in possibilities, the country's resources are dwindling so rapidly that efficiency and scientific management will have to be carried soon to a much higher degree.

In a few years we may expect to find it a common thing for a factory to retain a chemist just as it now employs a lawyer. Many large plants already maintain chemical laboratories. One of Boston's biggest and most efficient department stores has such a laboratory. And here in Cambridge by the Charles River, there is the big yellow brick building of this company which conducts a thriving business as chemical advisers and assistants to all sorts of manufacturers, inventors, tradesmen, and professional men. There is no line of industry which cannot be benefited by applied chemistry, the firm maintains, and the variety of its activities strengthens this broad claim.

One client, a manufacturer, recently discovered that a kind of shoe polish which he had long been purchasing, was not being made any more. The matter was taken up with the industrial chemists and an old bottle of the polish supplied. Then the manufacturer went home and in a short time he received the formula he wanted and help in establishing the necessary apparatus to make his own polish.

Another plant was having trouble with its product—minute tapioca—becoming mildewed. The chemists made a survey of the machinery in use and found that the trouble was due to the flour being boiled in tin. When the tin was replaced with wood and the process changed slightly there was no more mildew.

Tests for Merchandise
In still another instance the firm was requested to make a series of tests for a merchant to ascertain the wearing quality of several kinds of stockings. Artificial lights were used to hasten the discoloration ordinarily caused by sunlight. Special apparatus produced the effects of rubbing, soap, mud, and wear, and careful records were obtained, so that from the final report the dealer knew all the strong and weak points of the different brands of stockings he had been carrying.

This last job is interesting because it shows how chemistry is slowly entering the buying game, and rendering inestimable the barney of the dapper traveling salesman. Of course it will be some time before the small town general store with its modest capital can afford to have its stock analyzed to find out whether the silk or leather it is buying is as good as the salesman said. But big stores are doing this. They say that it is better to have a test to show up a poor grade of silk before they invest than to wait and have customers find flaws and possibly leave the store forever. On the other hand, if the material in a lot of dresses has been scientifically tested for wear, dyes, and quality, and has proved durable, the customer can safely be assured of satisfaction.

To cope with the varying problems put to it, the firm here has to employ chemists who are unusually versatile. The company has the reputation of being the greatest paper authority in the country. It has a small paper mill in one of its laboratories and chemists are almost always working here on some new paper project. There are also many demands for work on glass and fuels. But for the most part, each new contract calls for a new angle of investigation.

Helping the Planters
An unusual problem to which the chemists worked out an ingenious solution was, "Can weeds in a sugar cane plantation be controlled more cheaply and efficiently than by constant hand-weeding?"

The concern which wanted this question answered was in Hawaii. The research chemists spent some time in experiments and deep thought and finally emerged with a kind of soft but heavy brown paper which they have made from a waste material of the sugar mill called bagasse. This paper was impregnated with asphalt and was laid out in long strips in a field where cane had been planted. When the young cane sprouted, its sharp pointed roots pierced the felt paper and shot up, but weeds could not get through and died. This simple arrangement, using the material which the mill had been burning as worthless, increases the yield of sugar cane 25 per cent, and decreases the cost of labor for weeding 50 per cent.

Reclamation of waste is one of the chemist's most important fields of service. In the instance of the sugar mill the bagasse became valuable because it was right at hand and could be cheaply converted into paper by the mill itself.

A most vital instance of good material neglected, turned up in the South in connection with the long leaf yellow pine. This pine has been the mainstay of the naval store industry, but now lumber men have begun to worry over the turpentine and rosin prospects, for they figure that the supply of virgin yellow pine is due to last only about 10 or 12 years longer.

Valuable Stumps
This proposition was put up to the industrial chemists. They found that in the South there are thousands of acres of pine stumps. Experiments with some of these discarded stumps showed that, if they are shredded and a solvent added, turpentine, rosin, and pine oil can be extracted. These stumps were proven to be richer in turpentine than the trees themselves, and the soil from which they were blasted is fertile enough to be good land for cotton growing.

These facts, discovered about three years ago, are being applied to a small extent now. Utilization of the stump lands, however, is more expensive than the old method of tapping trees, so that it is not likely to become popular for a few years yet, or so long as the supply of trees lasts.

These are random examples given here, but they serve to show how scientific research, and especially chemical research, is applied to any kind of business. Such assistance is not yet generally within the reach of small industrial concerns, because it is an expensive proposition to keep skilled chemists at work in laboratories equipped with all sorts of experiments.

This is not the only plant of the kind in the country, and as time goes on there will doubtless be many more. This Cambridge company does claim the distinction of having as its founder and head one of the pioneers of industrial chemistry—a man who 35 years ago stated the astounding idea that chemistry could help business. At that time, however, such remarks were regarded as humorous, and called for such pleasantries as "You'll never blow up my shop with your infernal gases." But this far-seeing chemist kept on working, and now million-dollar plants are confined to his care to be experimented with as he sees fit.

Q. How many of our dead soldier boys have been brought over from France? A. B.

A. The Quartermaster General Corps says that up to the present date 6,929 bodies of dead soldiers have been brought from France, and 1,220 are en route to this country.

Q. How many states employ convict labor on the public roads? N. E. W.

A. The American Automobile Association says that 32 states employ such labor, four of them employing only county convicts, 13 only state convicts and the others employing both.

Q. Please let me know how to take apart lumber of an old mahogany piano that has been glued? P. B. J.

A. The Bureau of Standards says that if the wood is veneered, the safest plan would be to saw it apart. If the wood is solid mahogany, scrape off the varnish from the joints and let the piano stand out in the rain, if it is not possible, to put the pieces in a bathtub or tank to soak the glue.

Q. Give a quick way to make apple sauce. A. R. R.

A. A satisfactory and economical way to make apple sauce is to wash the apples, cut in pieces, and remove the cores, but not the skins. Pour water in the vessel until it can be seen, but not enough to cover the fruit. Cook until tender, put through fruit press or colander and sweeten to taste.

Q. Is the American Kennel Club connected with the Federal Government? W. J. E.

A. The American Kennel Club is under direct supervision of Federal Government.

Q. What is sake? B. W.

A. Sake is the name of the rice wine of Japan. It contains only a small percentage of alcohol, but is very intoxicating in some of its forms, through the presence of fusel oil.

Why Hudson Stands First Among All Fine Cars

It needs no admission from Hudson that there are great cars, other than the Super-Six, holding and deserving the confidence of owners.

Fine materials, careful supervision and accurate workmanship are no monopoly with Hudson. And wherever practiced the sure reward is a loyal following with faith in that car.

Yet how account for the differential which is so overwhelmingly evident in the preference for Hudson?

We know that ever since the Super-Six was brought out, nearly five years ago, it has outsold all other fine cars.

We know that Hudson owners who ever change to ownership of another make are few. We know that thousands of Hudson owners have found such abiding contentment in their cars, year after year, that they are not even curious to investigate another car.

These circumstances point unmistakably to Hudson's possession of a monopoly that men hold vital. That is the Super-Six motor. No other maker can use it. Hudson invented and controls it.

When we consider that the Super-Six motor accounts for all Hudson's unmatched records for endurance, speed and acceleration, as well as for the freedom from service troubles which is so distinctive a feature of Hudson ownership, is it surprising that it has proved too great an advantage for any other car to overcome, in winning this great following among fine cars, and holding their unwavering faith?

NEWS OF INTEREST FROM COUNTY AND STATE

MUST KEEP ROADS OPEN NEXT WINTER

State Highway Commission Warns Town Officers to Obey State Law.

(Special to Post-Crescent)
Madison, Wis. — Towns, villages and cities of the state must keep streets, highways and alleys open for travel during the winter months. This is the law and the Wisconsin Highway Commission is directed to enforce it.

Today, J. T. Donaghey, maintenance engineer, sent to the board of supervisors of every county, a letter calling attention to this law, and the need for its observance. This letter says:

"You will note under Section 1517.6 of that if the town, village, city or county fails to keep any portion of the State Trunk Highway System open for traffic during the winter that the 'commission may be appealed to and has the power to order the county to keep such portion of the system open for traffic. If in its opinion public interest demands the road be kept open, fifty per cent of the cost of such work may be assessed against the unit of government in which the snow is actually removed.

If there is any road in the county of sufficient importance to require it being kept open during the winter months for motor vehicles it should be selected by your board at the annual meeting and the necessary appropriations made to purchase the equipment required and to pay for the work. If action along this line is not taken at this time the commission will undoubtedly receive numerous petitions for snow removal on trunk highways at a time when it will be too late for the county to provide the necessary funds and equipment.

No petition can legally be presented to the commission until either the town, village, city or county has failed to keep the system open, and, of course, no person can assume that

DAIRY PRICES ARE SHOWING INCREASE

Market Letter Shows Declines in Prices of Potatoes, Sugar and Flour.

(Special to Post-Crescent)
Madison, Wis.—In its semi-weekly Market News Letter the Division of Markets will say of commodity prices:

"Dairy products increased in price in the state during October according to the reports received from all over the state giving retail prices of the important food products. Declines, however, were noted in the potatoes, sugar and flour while meat prices remained practically the same."

"The average retail price of butter in September was 57.6c lb. while in October it was 58.5c lb. Dairy butter sold by the farmer averaged him 53.9c lb. Eggs sold by the farmer averaged him 51.2c a dozen and the average of 48.8c a dozen. The average milk price remained the same at 11c a quart. The average retail price of American cheese was 34.9c a lb., compared with 34c in September."

"Sugar continued its decline but there is a wide variation in the retail price. The prices paid over the state ranged from 12 to 20c lb. with a state average of 16.1c as compared with the September average of 18.6c. Flour dropped from the September average of $4.00 per 49 lb. sack to the October average of $3.65. The cabbage average price remained the same at 3.5c lb. The average price per ton received by the farmer was $6.30. Potatoes brought the farmer an average of $1.25 cwt. and retailed for an average price of 2.4c lb. compared with the average September price of 3.7c lb. The average retail price of round steak this month was 29.7c lb. and of pork chops 38c.

"The following are the average prices received by farmers for products sold to local dealers: Hogs $13.62 cwt., cattle 36.28 cwt., mixed fowls, 21.3c lb., wool 28c lb., yellow corn $1.14 bu., oats 55c bu., barley 93.7c bu., wheat $1.85 bu., timothy hay $22.98 ton."

Too Weak to Do Anything

The ordinary every-day life of most women is a ceaseless treadmill of work. How much harder the tasks become when some derangement peculiar to her sex makes every movement painful, and keeps the nervous system all unstrung until life seems hardly worth living. Every women in this condition should profit by the experience of these two women whose letters follow.

Read the Experience of These Two Women

Reading, Pa.—"I had organic inflammation, pains in the side and back which were so sharp that they pulled me to my knees, and I could not walk. I had an operation and still I failed, and in the eight years I suffered I had four doctors and none helped me. My mother-in-law advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I was then in bed, and after the first bottle I could be out of bed, then I took Vegetable Compound Tablets and Lydia E. Pinkham's Blood Medicine and also used the Sanative Wash. I still take the medicine and am able now to do my own housework. My friends say, 'My! but you look well—what do you do? Who is your doctor?' And there is only one answer, 'Lydia E. Pinkham's medicines which I gladly recommend.'" —Mrs. Wm. Strein, 560 Douglas Street, Reading, Pa.

Gainesville, Tex.—"For three years I suffered untold agony each month with pains in my side. I found only temporary relief in doctor's medicine or anything else I took until my husband and I saw an advertisement of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I mentioned it to a neighbor and she told me she had taken it with good results, and advised me to try it. I was then in bed part of the time, and my doctor said I would have to be operated on, but we decided to try the Vegetable Compound, and I also used Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash. I am a dressmaker and am now able to go about my work, and do my housework besides. You are welcome to use this letter as a testimonial as I am always glad to speak a word for your medicine." —Mrs. W. M. Stephens, 202 Harvey St., Gainesville, Texas.

FAIL TO FIND WORK; RETURN TO SOUTH

Disillusioned Negroes Are Glad To Return to Old Employment

(Special to Post-Crescent)
Memphis—Thousands of negroes, who flocked north by trainloads during the summer, are returning south. Disappointed by failure to find the higher wages and better conditions about which employment agents glibly talked, their old employers say they are eagerly seeking to return to the work they left.

With business slackening in many northern industrial centers, the negroes found that they were usually the first to be laid off the job. Country negroes declare their higher pay was more than counterbalanced by increased living costs in industrial cities. City negroes often found their wages in northern cities did not equal their pay in southern cities.

Many Reasons
Lack of adequate housing facilities, strange conditions, homesickness, failure to find the improved social treatment for which some had hoped, more rigorous climates, race rioting, harder work—these are some of the things which are sending the negroes back south in a steady stream.

Reports received by local employment bureaus show that 250,000 negroes went north during June, July and August, this year. There was considerable negro migration almost from the start of the war.

Tennessee, Arkansas, Mississippi, Georgia, Alabama and Kentucky were chiefly hit by the negro migration, Mississippi showing an actual decrease in population.

Whole trainloads of negroes went north daily during the peak of the migration. Almost every day during the three summer months 200 negroes left Memphis for Detroit and nearby points. Trainloads, like cattle, were shipped away to work on northern railroads. Eastern corporations and railroads sent agents throughout the south to hire labor, and efforts to prevent the migration accomplished little.

According to estimates by men who studied the problem, 75 per cent of the negroes who went north worked on railroad construction jobs. Pennsylvania used a large number on state roads. Akron, O., is estimated to have taken 30,000 negroes from the Memphis territory.

The supply of negro labor in Mississippi is estimated to have been cut 50 per cent during the summer.

Not Good R. R. Men
Negroes were not a success as railroad workers, according to local railroad agents.

According to R. C. Wells of the Memphis Employment Bureau, and railroad men, the migration of negroes has now almost completely stopped, while the return movement is growing so heavy that, if it continues at its present rate, about 85 per cent of those who left will have returned before the end of the winter.

VOTE IN BRITISH COAL STRIKE STILL IN DOUBT

By United Press Leased Wire
London—Opposition to the government's coal strike settlement was making headway today with 121,368 votes recorded against it to 102,704 for it.

A hopeful sign from the government standpoint was the vote in Wales where 42,340 voted for settlement, 77,425 against.

It had been expected the radical workers there would reject the proposal by a much larger margin. Several doubtful districts, including Yorkshire, Lancashire and Durham were reported swinging in favor of the agreement.

Parent-Teacher Association
A large crowd attended the election party of the Parent-Teachers' Association of the First Ward school Tuesday evening.

Speeches were made by many of the "men of the hour" such as Harding (H. W. Tuttle), Cox (Mark Catlin) and Taft (Dr. R. C. Muller). One of the expected celebrities, the ghost of T. R. sent his regrets.

A musical program was given consisting of a solo by Mrs. J. P. Frank; piano, Mrs. Mildred Boettcher; and Mrs. J. J. Blawie; and two violin solos by Miss Ruth Schumacher. The latter part of the evening was devoted to dancing. Light refreshments were served.

SEES FAILURE OF BOLSHEVIK RULE

Writer Believes Hunger and Terror Will Make Public Assert Itself

(Special to Post-Crescent)
London—Hunger, terror, widespread riots and revolts, and great dissatisfaction in the Red army are factors that seem to be at last undermining the Bolshevik regime in Russia.

The Bolshevik position, it is felt here, has never been more precarious than at present. From what I saw in Russia last summer I agree with those who maintain that Communism cannot possibly survive another winter.

The immediate raising of the blockade could not save Russia from starvation the coming winter. Peace, or no peace, millions in Russia are doomed to die from starvation, cold and spotted typhus during the next six months of severe weather. The first snow has already fallen in north Russia.

How long will the Russian people, under these conditions, continue to submit to the rule of Lenin and Trotsky?

Armies in Danger
A mass of information collected recently from depositions made by prisoners captured from Soviet armies has arrived in London. From this evidence, and also from declarations published in the official Soviet organs, the Ivestia and Pravda for Sept. 25, 26, convincing proof is given that the Red armies are in imminent danger of melting away and that the civil population is with the greatest difficulty being held in control.

The Ivestia prints an article by Trotsky which says that "The army is weakened and the people passive toward the war. Workmen and peasants must understand that if the Red army is subjected to another serious defeat in the field, the position of the Soviet republic will become catastrophic."

the Ukraine the harvest this year has been particularly poor. In August only 2,500,000 poods were harvested, as against 4,000,000 in the same month of last year. And yet the bread ration last May was but half a pound a day, which, from personal experience, I know is not sufficient to properly sustain a man.

Everywhere the peasants have refused to produce more than they needed themselves. They have declined to grow for the cities which have nothing to offer in exchange except worthless paper money.

Both the Pravda and Ivestia refer to the fact that harvesting in many sections was "in September being done, not by the peasants, but by Communist troops."

More Conspiracies
In addition to unrest created by the food situation, more conspiracies than usual seem to be in progress. Workmen of the famous Putloff munition shops in Petrograd, together with railwaymen from the Warsaw station, recently began a revolt against the government, because of living conditions. Troops suppressed the insurrection. Several executions followed, and 300 of the Putloff workers were sent for forced labor to the Murman coast.

Throughout all central Russia extensive forest fires, consuming untold wealth in timber, are in progress as the result of the work of Communists, who, dissatisfied with the efforts of the government round-up of deserters, have been endeavoring to burn out 10,000 of those known to be hiding in the woods.

The Misses Etta and Mae Bongers and Miss Gresson rode to Green Bay on their bicycles Sunday.

GIVE SYMPHY TO SCANDAL VICTIM

Newspaper Article Explaining Her Plight Brings Many Letters

(By Russ Simonson)
Newcastle, Pa.—Letters offering advice, sympathy and encouragement are pouring in from many places to Mrs. Ada McIntyre, 25-year old wife here, who suffered the scorn of her townspeople after she had been a member of an automobile party that ended with a killing. Driven, she says, by the taunts of her neighbors, Mrs. McIntyre wrote to a newspaper, here asking "just a little sympathy." She is the wife of "Scotty" McIntyre, a template mill worker, and was with her friend, Mrs. Harriet Olds and Mrs. Olds' brother, Roy Phillips, in an automobile driven by J. C. Abraham, when the two men fell into a fight. Abraham was killed. Phillips is charged with the killing.

Life is Miserable
The law is certain, according to District Attorney George W. Muese, that Mrs. McIntyre had no part whatever in the killing, yet with one accord, she says, the people here turned smugly against her and made her life a misery.

Now things are a little better, but still far from right in the little two-room apartment where the McIntyres live.

Intyre, "but people still point at us on the street and whisper. I guess they won't ever stop that."
Will Quit Town
"We're going to get out of here as soon as we can," "Scotty" declared. He was bouncing his 21-month-old daughter on his knee. He appears devoted to the baby and she adores him. "We won't have our baby brought up to this. It's bad enough for us, but it would be worse for her."
Mrs. McIntyre says that the Rev. S. E. Irvin, United Presbyterian pastor, denounced her from the pulpit as "not a Christian woman." She says she went to him after the service and told him that she was a Christian and that he didn't answer her.
"I don't see how the woman could have believed that I had any reference to her," said Irvin. "I neither denounced her openly or by inference. I'm sure there was nothing in my sermon she was justified in construing as an attack on her."

"She did come to me after the service. I was busy shaking hands with people at the door and it may be that I did turn away from her after she told me her name. She did tell me she was a Christian, but I saw no particular significance in her remark."
P. E. O. Sisterhood
The P. E. O. Sisterhood will meet at three o'clock Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Fred Edmonds, 694 Durkee street. Mrs. Edmonds and Miss Percy Fullinwider will be the hostesses. Miss Ada Hahn will present the program.

Thos. R. Marshall to Tell of Observations During Eight Years as Vice-President

Made Envious Record Through Efficiency, Unfailing Courtesy and Pronounced Simplicity—Is Plain Man of the People.

Honorable Thomas R. Marshall, for eight years vice president of the United States of America, is just plain Tom Marshall with his thousands of friends and admirers in the Middle West. He is to lecture here in the near future.

Mr. Marshall is a man of the people. He has been a plain, common, everyday person through his many years of official life. He steps down from his high governmental position with a record which has endeared him to all, through his efficiency, unfailing courtesy and pronounced simplicity. As presiding officer of the senate, Mr. Marshall has kept in close touch with the big events of the past eight years, and no man in America is better qualified to discuss them. His talk here will be a most enlightening discussion on "Problems of Today—Social, Political and Otherwise."

Had Not Spent Night Away From Home In Thirty Years

When C. F. Glaser, prosperous town of Harrison farmer, relinquished possession of his 50 acre farm Saturday night it was the first time in nearly 30 years that he slept away from his home. Mr. Glaser sold the farm to Arthur Kessler of Detroit who has it ready taken possession.

The town of Harrison farmer moved on the farm 29 years ago from the city and in all that time he had never spent a night away from home. He had made frequent trips to Milwaukee and other cities but always left after he had done his morning chores and returned in time to do the work of night. He has never had a hired man depending upon himself and members of his family to do all the work.

Mr. Glaser will leave in the near future for Chicago, Memphis and New Orleans to spend the winter. He expects to return to Appleton by way of Washington, D. C. where he will visit his daughter who is in government employ. The daughter never spent a night away from home until she entered the government service. His son Robert Glaser is soon to start a five months trip by boat which will take him half way around the world. He is an engineer on a shipping board steamer.

Mr. Glaser expects to purchase a home in Appleton after his return from his winter trip.

KEEP LOOKING YOUNG

It's Easy—If You Know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, are gentle in their action yet always effective. They bring about that natural buoyancy which all should enjoy by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are known by their olive color.

Begin Right Now to Conquer Your Rheumatism

If you are going to again rely upon the innumerable bottles to try to rub your Rheumatism away, you will be doomed again to nothing but disappointment. A disease that can cause so much pain and suffering is not on the surface of the skin, and cannot be rubbed away.

Many forms of Rheumatism are caused by a tiny disease germ in the blood, and in such cases the only logical treatment is to search out and remove these germs from the blood.

For this purpose there is no more satisfactory remedy than S.S.S., the fine old blood remedy that has been in use for more than fifty years, and has given such general satisfaction for Rheumatism.

Begin taking S.S.S. today, and if you will write a complete history of your case, our medical director will give you expert advice, without charge. Address: Chief Medical Director, 160 Swift Laboratory, Atlanta, Ga.

The Cost of a Hole in the Ground

COMMENTING upon the rise in the price of gasoline, a man who is unfamiliar with petroleum production writes:

"The Lord, who put the oil in the earth, charges no more for it than he ever did. It comes for nothing out of the ground when you dig a hole."

This is true, if it comes out of the ground without help. The greatly increased cost lies in digging the hole, casing it, caring for the oil when it comes out, and transporting and handling it on its way to the refinery.

Petroleum Age in its September issue says: "The cost of drilling and equipping a well at the present scale of prices for material and labor runs from Five Thousand Dollars for a shallow sand pumper to Seventy-five Thousand Dollars for the deep wells. A general average covering the entire country would run about Twenty Thousand Dollars per well."

One item which is often overlooked is the cost of drilling wells which fail to produce oil. It is estimated that from 20 to 30 percent of all wells put down are dry holes.

Yet, in spite of all discouragements, which included shortage of casing, difficulties of transportation, and the increasing expense of labor, on July 31st, 1920, there were eleven thousand wells drilling or under way east of the Rocky Mountains, with completions averaging about three thousand wells a month. Probably thirty six thousand wells will be completed during 1920.

The total expense including investment in drilling tools, lease equipment and labor, is roughly estimated at one billion dollars.

Deducting two hundred fifty million dollars (25 percent) for salvage on equipment susceptible of further use, the net investment in new production for the year will be seven hundred fifty million dollars.

It is apparent that oil does not come "for nothing out of the ground."

Oil is usually discovered in spots remote from rail centers. The cost of pumping and transporting it to the refinery is a heavy charge. At the refinery charges begin to pile up, for refining oil is a true manufacturing process involving application of chemistry, the use of specialized machinery, and human labor.

All of these factors add to the cost of a product which Nature has given us.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has been steadfastly applying the trained power of its organization to increasing the yield of gasoline from crude, and in achieving economies by large scale operations in refining and distributing its products.

STATE PRISONERS GOING TO SCHOOL

Green Bay Reformatory and State Prison Are Providing Courses.

Madison, Wis.—Prisoners are now being educated in Wisconsin along scholastic as well as industrial lines according to reports from the University extension department and from the state reform school at Green Bay.

Waupun has 61 men enrolled in courses under the extension department. Their average in scholarship compares favorably with that of regular students taking the same courses.

Engineering subjects seem the most popular and 14 men are enrolled in shop drawing and automobile mechanics while eight are studying elementary shop work.

Take Business Course

There are 15 men taking bookkeeping of commercial law. Courses in high school English and grammar are being taken by 15 inmates, and one man has taken a practical course in public speaking.

There are seven studying mathematics and French one Spanish and two music and elementary harmony.

Regular night school is held at Waupun although attendance is optional. Common grammar school subjects through the eighth grade are taught.

200 Study at Green Bay

Classes at the reformatory at Green Bay are being held in all subjects from reading writing and arithmetic in the lower grades to history civil government literature composition geography and higher arithmetic in the upper grades. More than 200 are enrolled in the school which is compulsory.

Every boy is given a careful examination and placed in the grade for which he is best fitted. Pupils are promoted by examinations.

Industrial training to fit the boys for earning a living in the outside world is given in brick laying broom making cement work plastering, farm work and concrete construction.

Want More Scouts

An intensive campaign to enroll a greater number of Appleton youths as boy scouts will be planned by the troop organization committee of the Appleton Boy Scout Council Thursday evening at a meeting at the Y. M. C. A. Special attention will be given to forming new troops. Charles C. Baker is chairman of the committee.

CABBAGE MARKET VERY UNCERTAIN

Unfavorable Weather Conditions and Big Crop Keep Prices Way Down.

(Special to Post-Crescent)
Madison, Wis.—The Division of Markets commenting today on the cabbage market says:

"The cabbage market has experienced its ups and downs the past few weeks. The weather conditions have been a factor in the uncertain conditions that prevail. In some sections as much as 50 per cent of the cabbage remains to be cut and farmers and dealers feel that there will be no great change until cold weather sets in. Farmers have been busy with corn sugar beets and other crops and so hauling of cabbage has been light."

"The cabbage inspectors are reporting that the cabbage on a whole is of very good quality but that better handling methods are needed in some sections. Some growers and shippers are reported as selling ungraded cabbage that is in poor condition. Such tactics only help to further depress the already weak market and the inspectors are doing everything in their power to discourage this practice."

"The crop is very large and some dealers predict that some of the crop will never find its way to market. The demand has been erratic and some shipments are rolling unsold. Cabbage shortage is reported from some districts and this shortage is expected to be intensified when it becomes necessary to help to ship in refrigerator cars. Very little storing has been done but within the next couple of weeks it is expected that large amounts of cabbage will be put in the storages for winter shipment."

"Prices have varied considerably. In the Racine Kenosha county district dealers a short time ago paid farmers as high as $10 a ton for Danish cabbage but the market has reacted and farmers now are only receiving around $5 a ton. In Outagamie county the price advanced to $7.88 a ton but at present $5.86 are the prevailing prices. Loaded cars have been sold by dealers for $8.50 a ton. In Chicago Wisconsin stock has been selling for $10 to $12 a ton."

CROPS DAMAGED BY HOPPERS AND MOTHS

East Central Counties Are Biggest Sufferers From Moth Invasion.

(Special to Post-Crescent)
Madison, Wis.—Grasshoppers worked many thousands of dollars worth of damage to growing crops in Wisconsin this year, covering all the northern counties from Sheboygan to Douglas. The greatest loss according to the quarterly report of the division of entomology occurred in Door county where some crops would have been a total loss if it had not been for protective measures taken. Poisoned bran mash was used to kill the hoppers.

The same quarterly report tells also of ravages by army worm in the east central counties. The counties adjoining and south of Lake Winnebago suffered the most. Poisoned bran was used to stop the ravages of the army worm also.

The report states that during the summer 775,575 currant and gooseberry bushes were eradicated over 10,845 acres in Polk and Shawano counties to prevent the spread of white pine blister rust. The currant eradication was done in cooperation with the farmers of these locations who own pine areas and have asked help in their protection. The areas infected with this rust were Lewis, Amery, St. Croix and Keshena.

Hundreds of barberry bushes were destroyed on farms in Racine, Kenosha, Walworth and Milwaukee counties, and in Rock and Grant county in wood lots to prevent the spread of grain rust.

Owing to the receipt of a shipment of nursery stock from a region infested with the gypsy moth it was necessary to follow up and inspect 60 retail shipments. No evidence however of these moths was found.

Baby taxis, for two passengers, are gradually replacing the rickshaws in Japan.

500 TONS OF SUPPLIES NEEDED FOR WOODSMEN

Green Bay, Wis.—The lumber jacks and their families are hearty eaters. Five hundred tons of food and other winter supplies left here on board the Matthew Wilson bound for Drummond Island, Mich., a lumber camp operated by the Keston company. There are 500 inhabitants on the island. This would appear to be a ton of food for each inhabitant, but a portion of the cargo is made up of baled hay and feed for the horses and cattle.

Nevertheless there is 150 tons of groceries alone. And the lumber jacks expect to have this cleaned up by the time the ice breaks in Lake Huron in the spring and another shipload can be brought in.

Feed and flour was purchased at DePere and 300 cases of soft drinks from local breweries.

In the cargo are 55,000 cigarettes, sixty butts of chewing tobacco, twelve boxes of chocolates, thirty boxes of raisins, and a lot of other articles to lend joy to the long, cold winter.

REVIEW EFFORTS TO HELP SANITATION

Sanitary Engineering Division Describes Work of Last Three Months.

(Special to Post-Crescent)
Madison, Wis.—Steps taken by the sanitary engineering division of the state board of health to bring about purer water supplies, sanitary methods of sewage disposal, and disposal of industrial wastes are recounted for the third quarter in the report filed with State Chief Engineer J. G. D. Mack. This work was done by C. M. Baker, state sanitary engineer; E. J. Tully, chemical engineer, and T. Jasper McLean, who was employed as assistant sanitary engineer during the summer months.

Development of more complete and satisfactory public water supplies was undertaken at Stevens Point, Portage, Sheboygan and Two Rivers, and better sewerage facilities at Two Rivers, Cudahy, and other places.

Public sewer or water systems were under construction at Colby, Stratford, Durand, Amery, Rio, Waterloo and Viroqua, and in contemplation at Chelet, Elk Lake, Spooner, Cumberland, Augusta, Brillion, Cedarburg, Dousman, New Holstein, and a number of other towns.

Water supply investigations were completed at Augusta, Baraboo, Green Bay, Marinette, Monroe, Niagara, Sheboygan and Two Rivers, and are still in progress at Clintonville, Janesville, Neillsville, Phillips and Stevens Point. Sewerage investigations were completed at Black River Falls, Burlington, Columbus, Denmark, Fall River, Hartford, Jackson, Manitowish, Marshfield, Oostburg, Oshkosh, Portage, Waubesa, Wilton and Waukesha. Similar investigations are in progress at Delavan, Green Bay, Oakfield, Phillips, Racine, Sturgeon Bay, White Fish Bay and Waupun. Sewerage plans were approved for Denmark and Waupun, and are awaiting approval for Kaukauna, Niagara, Stevens Point, Two Rivers, and Whitefish Bay.

Milk product waste investigations were completed at Abbotsford, Alma Center, Barronette, Cadott, Cambria, Chili, Frederic, Hillsdale, Holmen, Humboldt, Hill Point, Ixonia, Jeli, Kennen, Kilmour, Loyal, Madison, Milton Junction, Morley, Mt. Hope, Neillsville, Omro, Rosendale, Schlesinger, Two Rivers, Cannery wastes were investigated at Baraboo, Barron, Blair, Elba, Fox Lake, Fredonia, Horicon, Lake Mills, Lodi, Lomira, Merrill, Merton, Reedsville, Saukville, Seymour, Stoughton, Thorp, Union Grove, Valders, Waupun and Whitewater, and paper and pulp mills at Black River Falls, McDill and Nekosco.

FARM HOUSE DAMAGED BY DYNAMITE BLAST

Maiden Rock.—The farm house of Christ Linder, near Plum City, was badly damaged by the explosion of a stick of dynamite which had been placed on the window and fired by some unknown person.

Mr. Linder and his two daughters, who live with him, escaped unhurt. Mr. Linder states that he has no enemies. The daughters received a number of anonymous letters about a year ago, which were sent to Madison. Another clue was found in a lady's handkerchief marked with the letter "A."

FOND DU LAC FORCED TO BORROW MONEY

Fond du Lac, Wis.—For the first time since 1915, Fond du Lac has been compelled to borrow money to carry the administration over until the next tax levy. The city commission at a meeting directed that $50,000 be borrowed to take care of the pay roll of the superintendent, clerks, teachers, and janitors of the public schools until the end of the year. This amount is to be charged against the school fund in the tax levy for next year. In 1915 when the commission form of government became effective it was necessary to borrow $22,000 to tide the administration over.

PREPARE SCHEDULE FOR VOLLEY BALL LEAGUE

A schedule of volley ball games was prepared Monday evening at the meeting of the St. Paul recreation club at St. Paul hall. Four teams were formed and captains were elected. Henry Kluge, William Bellings, Herman Schneider and Herman Rehlander were elected captains of teams No. 1, 2, 3, and 4, respectively. The first games of the schedule were played after the teams were formed. Team No. 1 won two out of three games from team No. 2, and team No. 4 won three straight games from team No. 3. Games will be played every Monday evening.

LABOR SITUATION NOT SATISFACTORY

Report Shows Decrease in Wages and in Employment From Last August.

(Special to Post-Crescent)
Madison, Wis.—Industrial conditions in Wisconsin are somewhat unsettled, the industrial commission announces. Preliminary estimates for September indicate that the number of employees will be between 3 and 4 per cent less than in August and that total wages paid will be at least 7 per cent less. Wisconsin has not been hit as hard as Eastern states by the unsettled condition, the commission says. Stability is due chiefly to her diversified industries.

Summer Wages Raised
The commission's tabulations for July and August, which have been completed, show an increase of 8 per cent in total wages and a falling off of eight-tenths of 1 per cent in total employment in the state. This condition was due to a large increase in earnings of railroad repair shop employees for August and to higher earnings in August as a result of improvement in railroad facilities which enabled factories to work full time. The commission says, declaring at the same time that average earnings in September are certain to have declined.

An increase is shown by the commission's figures in the number of men employed in stone quarrying and crushing and in stone finishing, due to improvement of transportation. The woodworking industry is recovering from the strike which tied up work, as shown by the increase in the number of operatives in mills and box factories.

West Escapes
Tanning, hosiery and other knit goods, and milk products, showed considerably fewer workers. Demolished market conditions have affected these industries. The commission says that Wisconsin shoe factories were not so affected by the break in the leather market as those in the East, due to the fact that most of them make a lower priced shoe.

A comparison of the total number of employees and of wages paid in the first quarter of 1915 with those during July and August, 1920, show that wages during that time jumped 257 per cent, while employment increased only 43 per cent. A chart prepared by months shows that there is a trend toward unemployment at the present time and that the wage level is declining.

FARMERS WARNED TO PASS UP MEETING

Beloit.—Ralph M. Miner, Charles L. Kelly and Otto Hahn, farmers of the town of Turtle, have received threatening letters warning them to avoid attending a school meeting. The district of which they are a part is discussing the plan of having a consolidated school and there has been considerable feeling aroused. The letters inform the men that if they attend the meetings they may expect to have their property burned. The letters were unsigned. The threatened men offer a reward of $200 for information leading to the arrest of the person who sent the letters. Officials are investigating the case.

P. J. KELLY, PIONEER OF MANITOWOC, IS DEAD

Manitowoc.—Patrick J. Kelley, sr., 81, pioneer mason contractor and one of the oldest residents of the city, died at his home on Seventh-st after an illness of several weeks. He was born in County Cork, Ireland, Nov. 10, 1839 and came to this country at the age of 17.

Mr. Kelley was the oldest member of the local council Knights of Columbus and a few months ago laid the cornerstone of the new K. of C. club-house.

Besides his widow, he is survived by six children, who are: John G., Waukesha; Tim L., Mrs. John Friar, and Mrs. F. G. Smith, Milwaukee; Patrick, jr., Mansfield, Ohio, and Miss Julia, of this city.

The funeral will be held Monday from Sacred Heart church.

ARRESTED IN AUSTRALIA: RETURNS TO FACE CHARGES

Sheboygan, Wis.—Edward Pooler, who recently was brought back to this city from Sydney, Australia, to face a charge of assaulting Edward Canisius and robbing him of $800, was to be given a preliminary hearing before Court Commissioner D. T. Phalen here tomorrow. Pooler denies his guilt, asserting that he can prove an alibi.

The arrest of Pooler in Australia resulted when persons at a western port recognized photographs of the hunted man as that of a man who had shipped as a sailor on a ship bound for Australia. The cable and wireless were used and Pooler was taken into custody at Sydney.

Chief of Police Henry Dehne and Sheriff William Brackmann went to Australia to get Pooler.

PLAN BIG DOINGS FOR HOMECOMING

University of Wisconsin Expects To Entertain Thousands of Visitors

Madison—The University of Wisconsin is planning for one of the greatest homecomings in its history on Friday, Saturday, and Sunday, Nov. 12, 13, and 14. The main feature of the festival will be the football game with Illinois to be played on Randall field Saturday afternoon. This is one of the crucial games in the conference this year and is looked to as being one of the best in western football this season.

Homecoming is to see many of the old alumni of the University back. Extensive arrangements are being made to welcome the old grads and everything that will aid the guests is being provided for. Lists of available rooms have been compiled so that everyone will be certain of a place to stay, and a booth in the Northwestern station will provide this information. One of the main features will be the homecoming massmeeting and luncheon on Friday night before the football game. Edward S. Gillette, all-western quarterback of champion Badger eleven of 1912 and who won his "letter" in football, baseball, track, and tennis, is to preside at the massmeeting, which will be the opening event of the celebration. Pep is to be provided by two brass bands, an all-university saxophone sextette, and the varsity cheer leading staff. Immediately after the meeting the crowd will assemble on lower campus where Illinois' coat will parade around an immense bonfire.

Saturday morning, Nov. 13, there will be a novel hobo parade. A hobo band will head the parade and followed by all the students in train regalia. Individual and group prizes will be given for the best costumes. The Engineers minstrels inaugurated into the homecoming program for the first time this year, will be presented on Friday and Saturday night, Nov. 12 and 13. All the proceeds from the minstrels will go to the Union Memorial building fund.

RIVAL CAPTAINS FACE EACH OTHER WHEN TIGER CLASHES WITH BULLDOG

(By Larry A. Jacobs)
New York—When the thirteenth of November rolls around the eyes of all of sports-loving America are going to be turned towards Princeton, N. J., where the Yale Bulldogs will be pitted against the Tiger of Princeton. This year the clash of the Orange and Black seems to outweigh the strife between even Yale and Harvard. And for one reason—the Captains Callahan will be matched against each other.

Leading the attack of the Yale Bulldogs will be Captain Timothy Callahan, whose able hands will pass the ball to the attacking backs of his school. And directly opposite him, leading the attack of the Tiger, will be Captain Mike Callahan, counted as one of the greatest pivots in the game today.

Special Box
But, seated in a special box that will be built for them so that they will not be compelled to sit among the hosts of rooters for either opposing eleven will be the mother of both brilliant captains, a buxom Irish woman, whose heart is going to be torn between pride for the achievement of the son whose team wins the game and sorrow for the disappointment of the other. And with her will be a laughing, happy girl—their sister, Eunice—who'll share with her mother the predicament of not knowing which side to hope for.

Different Now
Last year things were different. Mother and daughter both favored Yale, for they thought it would be Tim's last appearance on the gridiron. But Tim decided to return to school this year, and now it will be practically the last appearance of either in football togs.

Mrs. Callahan has impressed both sons with the idea that, after all, the great battle will only be a football game, and that no discredit can reflect on the one who loses.

Will Not Lose
And it's pretty safe to say that the one who loses—not wins—is going to be favored by Ma Callahan for awhile until he forgets the sting of defeat.

At the present time it looks as though Ma is going to have to do a lot of hoping for Tim, for the Bulldog team is not everything that it might be, having suffered a woeful defeat at the hands of Boston College earlier in the season, while the Tiger machine is a well-oiled, smooth-working steam-roller.

Great Day
But, taken all in all, it's going to be a great day, for:

Two teams, representing two of the three greatest colleges in the country, will be battling.

The two teams will be led by captains who are brothers.

The two captains will be playing practically their last game.

And on the headwork and footwork of both boys will hinge much of the battle.

As for us, we're rooting for a tie.

And it's pretty safe to say that the one who loses—not wins—is going to be favored by Ma Callahan for awhile until he forgets the sting of defeat.

At the present time it looks as though Ma is going to have to do a lot of hoping for Tim, for the Bulldog team is not everything that it might be, having suffered a woeful defeat at the hands of Boston College earlier in the season, while the Tiger machine is a well-oiled, smooth-working steam-roller.

POLICE ENFORCE PARKING RULES

Every Driver Violating Regulations Will Find Summons Tag on Car

Enforcement of parking regulations has been started by the Appleton police department. Violators will find their cars tagged with a summons to appear at the police station. There will be no punishment for the first offense, but repeaters will be brought into court.

It is impossible for traffic officers to keep watch for all points at one time, so Chief Trim has provided them with tags which are to be attached to all cars found in the restricted zones, or otherwise violating the traffic ordinances. The tag is headed "Summons" and instructs the owner of the car to report to the police station to answer to violation. A duplicate stub is retained by the officer, giving license number of the machine.

A list of offenses is printed on the tag, including parking over two feet from the curb, across walks, in front of theaters or hotels, within more than 10 feet of a fire hydrant, within a safety zone, or within the restricted zone at a corner. It also lists cars which are left with the motor running. The officer merely checks the offense on the tag.

Chief Trim states that a detailed record of every offense will be kept on file at the police station. He will not punish for the first offense, but will bring the automobile owner into court for subsequent violations.

Red signs lettered in white plainly indicate where cars should not be parked. These make the space 10 to 20 feet from a corner, a restricted zone at practically every downtown intersection. No cars will be allowed to park anywhere in the blocks between Midway and Soldier Square on Oneida street, nor on Oneida between Washington and Franklin, which is in front of the Appleton theatre. The latter block is restricted, because the fire or police departments would be delayed in answering calls if both sides were lined with machines and a street car was passing between.

Ample parking areas have been provided by the city at three places, to overcome the car congestion along the streets. One is at the corner of Washington and Oneida streets, and two are at the corner of College avenue and Superior street.

SEES HUSBAND AS VICTOR IN DREAM

Mrs. Carpentier Claims She Saw Husband in Realistic Battle

(By Milton Bronner)
(Special to Post-Crescent)

Paris—By "thought projection," Madame Carpentier, wife of Georges Carpentier, European boxing champion, says she saw her husband downed by Battling Levinsky in New York.

"My husband is a firm believer in thought projection," said Madame Carpentier, "and he always asks me to concentrate my thought and prayers on him wherever he may be."

"Just about the hour Georges entered the ring, I dropped into an uneasy slumber."

Saw All Details
"During that sleep a dream came and I saw a great spasm, a clearing in the woods, in the center of which two men faced each other—my husband and a stranger. Later I identified the stranger as Levinsky."

"In the dream I saw all the details of the battle and particularly I remember the last round. Levinsky was like a man mesmerized. My husband ceased evading his blows and rained punches on him until he was a mere huddled heap on the floor."

"I recall nothing else until awakened by the telephone and, though I couldn't hear the long distance from London, I knew already how my husband had won."

When Caspenter meets Dempsey he will retire from the game, says his wife.

"We are looking forward to the time when we can lead the life of an ordinary Frenchman and his wife," says she.

Doesn't Like Life
"My Georges doesn't like a boxer's life and would have quit after our marriage except that he felt it a duty to France to win honor. He knew if he didn't go after Dempsey he would be called a quitter."

"He has one superstition. He thinks that his ring luck will leave him if he begins a fight without having made up any tiff he may have had with me or with his mother."

"When he is not in training he devotes himself to his mother and me. He reads and plays and sings to us. He reads a great deal of poetry. It is a mistake to think of my Georges as a man who lives to inflict pain. He prefers his home to the ring."

AN INVESTMENT OPPORTUNITY IN WISCONSIN CUT-OVER LANDS

We have in Northern Wisconsin one hundred thousand acres of wealth-bearing land which through a favorable combination of circumstances, we are now able to offer investors at exceptionally low prices and attractive terms. Men who pioneered farming in Indiana, Illinois and Iowa have seen their lands grow in value from a few dollars an acre to $200, $300 and $400. Northern Wisconsin offers the same possibilities without the discouraging hardships of the early pioneers. Close to markets, splendid railroad facilities and unexcelled roads.

If you are looking for a real investment, investigate this. Write for details.

quasi-republican.
 Eighth district—E. E. Browne, Waukegan, republican, incumbent.
 Ninth district—David P. Clason, Green Bay, republican, incumbent.
 Tenth district—James A. Frear, Appleton, republican, incumbent.
 Eleventh district—A. P. Nelson, Grand Rapids, republican, incumbent.

Legislators are Ahead
 Milwaukee.—Indications here today were that three candidates for state offices endorsed by the non-partisan league had been elected.

John J. Blaine, candidate for governor, was far ahead of his opponents, and indications pointed to the election of George F. Comings, for lieutenant governor and Elmer S. Hall, for secretary of state. Wm. J. Moran undoubtedly the next attorney general, is a staunch opponent of the league.

Reports predict the re-election of Henry Johnson as state treasurer. All state officers were elected on the republican ticket.

Incomplete returns indicated that in nearly all districts republican candidates for state senate and general assembly would be elected.

Incomplete returns showed that Blaine had carried Milwaukee county, with Coleman second and McCoy third.

Debs took second place in Milwaukee county, incomplete returns giving Harding 57,000; Debs 55,000 and Cox 16,000.

Frank J. Weber, socialist candidate for U. S. senator, apparently carried Milwaukee county on the face of almost complete returns. He polled about 4,000 more than Thompson who led Lenroot by about the same vote.

WATER DEPARTMENT BUYS CARLOAD OF FUEL OIL

Fred Morse was instructed to order a carload of fuel oil at a meeting of the Appleton water commission at the city hall Monday afternoon. The price is the lowest it has been for some time. Provision was made for A. J. Hall, chemist, to attend the bacteriologist convention at Iowa City, Ia., next week.

accountant was submitted and placed on file and a copy was presented to the common council. Bills amounting to $340.62 were audited and the payroll amounting to $1,233.19 was allowed.

Council Meets
 A regular meeting of the common council will be held at the city hall Wednesday evening. It is possible that a successor to August H. Meyer, who recently tendered his resignation as chairman of the Appleton Water commission will be selected.

Racine county was the first county to report a complete vote for president. The thirty-four precincts in the county gave Harding 12,801; Cox 3,587; Debs, 1,414 and Watkins 249. McCoy and Lenroot were leading in incomplete returns.

Kenosha county's eighteen precincts gave Harding 9,736; Cox 1,726; Debs 551; Watkins 54; Reinisch 1,751; Lenroot, 6,094; Weber 651; Thompson 3,171.

plurality for Harding. California, whose vote four years ago decided the Hughes-Wilson contest in favor of the latter, appears to have gone for Harding by more than 100,000.

Harding, when he assumes the presidency March 4, 1921, will go into office with a senate and house of representative republicans by wide margins, according to the returns to date.

The republicans gained seats in both the upper and lower houses.

Ohio Loyal to Harding
 By United Press Leased Wire
 Cleveland.—With more than half of the vote in Senator Warren G. Harding's majority over Governor James M. Cox in their mutual home state was estimated today at more than 200,000.

The vote in 3,469 of the 7,269 precincts showed:
 Harding 1,297,736; Cox 356,947.

These returns showed Cox a possible winner in only six counties. Harry L. Davis, republican, apparently would have a majority for governor over Vic Donahue of at least 100,000.

Returns from 2,382 precincts gave Davis 230,331; Donahue 245,629.
 Frank R. Willis, republican candidate for senator, was elected over W. A. Julian by possibly 200,000.

The only democrat of the 22 congressmen who appeared certain of election was W. G. Dickrell, in Cox's home district.

Missouri Goes to G. O. P.

178 were counted in Appleton.

The vote was by far the heaviest ever polled in the city and county, although it was not as large as predicted. With one precinct missing, the total vote for president was 12,925 and the missing Kaukauna ward will send the total well over 13,000, about 3,000 more than the largest vote heretofore polled.

While the vote in the city of Appleton was by far the heaviest ever polled, it was not up to expectations. A total of 5,733 ballots were cast for president, about 1,500 more than the maximum at any previous election. It was said that at least 85 per cent of the voters here were women and that for several hours during the day women voters outnumbered men. The first ward polled the largest number of votes, more than 1,400. Nearly 1,200 were polled in the Third ward and the Fifth ward broke all existing records.

The county vote was well up to expectations, considering the kind of weather. It was feared the rain would keep many farmers at home but the cold wind apparently did not

Kendall, republican, was elected governor. Iowa's total congressional delegations of eleven will be republicans. Based on present returns, Harding carried the state by 400,000 and Cummins by 200,000.

The county vote was well up to expectations, considering the kind of weather. It was feared the rain would keep many farmers at home but the cold wind apparently did not had carried Arizona, a normally democratic state, by a plurality of from 2,000 and 5,000.

At the same time the returns indicated the defeat of Senator Marc Smith, democrat, by Ralph Cameron, republican. Indications were that practically the entire republican state ticket had carried.
